Chilton GS

A strong, stylish and practical furniture range from Herman Miller

Chilton GS is uniquely different from all other C-frame products in that it is practical yet, elegant, flexible but strong. As you would expect from Herman Miller products, the technical specification is second to none. Every aspect of modularity, space, cable management and assembly has been thought through, to bring you a superior furniture range. In a cost-effective way, Chilton brings both style and genuine build quality to your workspace

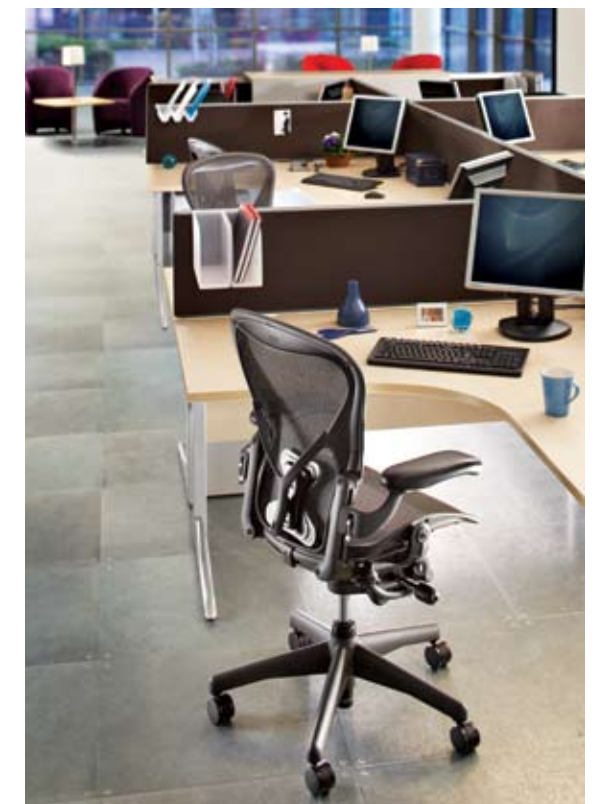

The elegant simplicity of Chilton conceals an understructure that has technical specification unrivalled in its class. Every component is engineered for maximum flexibility, strength and practicality. The leg sections are built to withstand three times the British Standards load requirement. Due to the strength of the framework all desks can be wired before worktops are fitted, making this task easier than on most products.

The three-part leg frame is built using an aluminium die cast foot, with adjustable feet for levelling, and steel welded leg and support arm. All aluminium and steel parts are epoxy powder-coated to provide a tougher finish. Modesty panels are secured into the leg structure and have edge-band on all sides to avoid damage to both cables and clothing

All desks are fitted with a 28mm thick working surface, manufactured from the highest grade MFC with 2mm edge band that is smooth and resistant to the knocks generally associated with heavy use.

Chilton GS is available in a wide variety of single, freestanding desks with simple wire management options, a choice of screen applications and a wide variety of finishes. Unlike other products on a similar price point, Chilton GS carries a 12-year Herman Miller warranty.

Chilton GS is tested to BS EN 527-1, BS EN 527-2, BS EN 527-3, BS EN ISO 9241-5 and BS6396.
